

AWARENESS BUGZ: A GLOBAL MOVEMENT

Bugz Workshop, Inc., a small, humanitarian company with its roots in Africa, has announced the creation of its line of "Awareness Bugz"—butterflies and dragonflies that carry a human public service message.

Bugz produces several hand-crafted, decorative butterflies for causes such as HIV Awareness, Breast Cancer, Troop Support Awareness and now Domestic Violence Awareness.

A special purple butterfly has been recently created to raise awareness about the issue of domestic violence and bears the special message of "Stop Abuse...Beating Wings, NOT Women." It is currently being sold in stores across the country and internationally. A portion of the proceeds of the sale of the Domestic Violence Awareness Bugz will be donated to NCADV.

Additionally, each Awareness Bug is handcrafted by the Zulu in Africa. The profits from Bugz products go to help create and sustain jobs for the Zulu in effort to help them maintain a better quality of life. An additional mission of Bugz is to help build proper housing and a medical clinic for the Zulu. No outside, private or government funding is being used to support this project.

Currently, Bugz employs over 250 Zulu workers and their families.

For more information about Bugz, or to purchase a product, please visit www.bugz.com.