Program Overview

Domestic Violence and HIV/AIDS: A Dangerous Intersection is a Training and Empowerment Program for Frontline Workers of domestic violence agencies offering shelter, outreach services, transitional housing, intervention for adults and children services. Also, the training is provided to HIV/AIDS service agencies positioned to screen domestic violence victims and/or those at risk, including minorities and special populations. Staff from Homeless Shelters, Health Departments, Community & Faith Based Organizations are also encouraged to attend. This training is one of a series of trainings sponsored by The Office on Women Health in the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services & facilitated by ENSYNC Diversified Management Services.

Course Description:

This One Day Training examines the interrelationships and intersections between Domestic Violence and HIV/AIDS. The goals of this training are to assist health & human service providers by:

- Present cutting-edge information, training and research with the goals of better serving persons who may have been affected by both DV & HIV/AIDS
- Provide a Statistical Overview of the Prevalence of Domestic Violence and HIV/AIDS
- Examine how domestic violence may increase the risk of HIV exposure
- Learn about HIV/AIDS highest risk groups; the HIV path of entry, modes of transmission and testing information
- Explore the concepts of risk awareness, risk reduction education, referrals and advocacy
- Review DV/HIV/AIDS Self-Assessment Tools
- Review latest Research
